Special Events – A few examples ...

Ralph Lauren threw an amazing Wimbledon Party for Too Many Women at their Bond Street Store. The event was hosted by Boris Becker, Venus Williams and Elizabeth Saltzman and was attended by Gwyneth Paltrow, Matt Le-Blanc and Tamara Beckwith among others. It was a fantastic night with ice-cold jugs of Pimms, champagne, rose and delicious canapés. 15% from all sales on the night and in the Wimbledon fortnight were donated to TMW and the event overall raised an impressive £12,600 for the charity. Ralph Lauren have also made Too Many Women their 'Pink Pony charity' and will be donating 100% of sales of a limited edition pink polo shirt. Marie Claire will be launching this exciting partnership in their November issue: <http://www.menstennisblog.info/2010/06/photos-ralph-lauren-wimbledon-party.html> / <http://www.vogue.co.uk/celebrity-photos/100618-ralph-lauren-wimbledon-party-2010.aspx> / <http://www.femalefirst.co.uk/sport/tennis/Venus+Williams+Attends+PreWimbledon+Party-2568.html>

All Star Lanes are partnering with Too Many Women to throw an amazing 'All Star' Celebrity Bowling Tournament in October (Breast Cancer Awareness Month) and are also donating £1 from the sale of every Pink Cocktail and Pink Sundae across all 3 of their venues for the month of October. The event is being sponsored by Storm Modelling Agency and Quintessentially.

Celebrated Artist Gene Bible will be donating one of his iconic flag pictures to TMW. He will be creating the piece using the names of British women nominated by our supporters. This unique and exclusive piece of art will then be auctioned in aid of TMW at a Medium Rare Cabaret Night in September.

Donovan Leitch, Alex Eden & Lanny Cordola threw a star-studded roof-top party at the Pailhouse in Los Angeles and raised nearly £2000 for Too Many Women: <http://thedailytruffle.com/2010/07/the-gypset-hit-the-pailhouse-rooftop-in-west-hollywood-newly-decorated-by-antonia-von-salm/> / <http://www.wireimage.com/ItemListings.aspx?igi=442415&nc1=1>
